

Modern Slavery & Human Trafficking

Connect It acknowledges its responsibilities under the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and we are committed to preventing slavery and human trafficking within our businesses and our supply chains. We have an absolute zero tolerance policy to modern slavery. We are committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business.

We understand that modern slavery encompasses:

- Forced work, through mental or physical threat;
- Being owned or controlled by an employer through mental or physical abuse or the threat of abuse;
- Being dehumanised, treated as a commodity or being bought or sold as property; and/or
- Being physically constrained or to have restriction placed on freedom of movement.

As part of our zero-tolerance policy, we will not enter into business, and will discontinue any current business with any other organisation which knowingly supports or is found to involve itself in slavery, servitude or forced or compulsory labour.

We will strictly adhere to the standards required of us in relation to our responsibilities under relevant employment legislation in the United Kingdom.

Peter Leech
Managing Director